FILM PICK

Wolf

Jack Nicholson gives yet another performance of a lifetime in an adult fairy/horror tale that unfortunately seems to last that long in several places. Nicholson plays a Manhattan book editor who has two liabilities in the world of mass marketing—good taste and individuality. After he is bitten by a wolf on a rural Vermont road, he is both terrified and exhilarated by his metamorphosis into an animal as he stalks his enemies in an urban publishing jungle. But will he also devour a loved one during the hunt? This lush, intelligent but unsatisfying story about greed and survival of the fittest also stars Michele Pfeiffer, Kate Nelligan, Christopher Plummer and James Spader. Directed by Mike Nichols. M.H.
